We are occasionally led into wondering why more ducks are not bred key may also be used to advantage in this way.—[N. Y. Post. and marketed among our poultry breeders in America. We have now in this country three or four varieties of imported ducks, at the head of hardness and thrift. The Aylesbury (pure white, like the Pekin), the en (brown or parti-colored), the Cayuga (black), are notable and of SURPLUS..... good quality. Each of these varieties, within our knowledge, has been successfully bred in New England, upon

Chicken Diseases. Young chicks are sometimes trou-bled with a disease that for a better name, we call indigestion. They lose their appetite, "bake up behind," their appetite, "bake up behind, mope around and die. It is caused by feeding sour, uncooked food, lack of green feed. The preventional green feed. The prevention of the prev gravel and green feed. The preventives are obvious. Feed only cooked food, provide gravel and plenty of green food. Onion tops or lettuce chopped and mixed with the soft food is evenlent for rouns which and its evenlent for rouns which and its executive. is excellent for young chicks and turkeys. Sometimes a cure can be effected in the early stages of this disease by giving a half teaspoonful of croton oil or tincture of rhubarb, and then feeding for a few days on cooked rice or stale bread soaked in milk and seasoned with pepper. A little pulverized charcoal added to the food twice a week tends to keep the digestive organs of young fowls in good order.

Almond Trunks as Stocks. A California correspondent of the Rural New Yorker uses the almond as a stock for the peach, apricot and prune. The grafts grow with great vigor, nearly all making a growth of ten feet the first year, with side branches from one to four feet. They were shortened back to keep them within bounds the second year, and all except the apricots bore well the third year. Many years ago we employed the hardy bitter almond in New York as a stock for the peach, as not being liable to the attacks of the grub, but the advantages gained hardly paid for the trouble, and the practice was given up. There is no question, however, that it would be better for this purpose

The Home Circle.

WOMAN'S TRUE SOURCE OF STRENGTH. The strength of women lies in their heart. It shows itself in their strong love and instinctive perception of right and wrong. Intellectual courage is rarely one of their virtues. As a rule, they are inclined to be restless and excitable, allowing their judgment and actions to be swayed by quick emotions of all kinds, but above all, it is in their hopefulness and their endurance that they find their chief power. Who is the last person to give up hope in case of a member of the family who has apparently gone to the bad? What mother or sister with deep and ardent love for such will ever deep and ardent love for such will ever cease to cherish hope or to endure suffering on their account? The patience of women is proverbial, and their whole lives are bound up in their affections. Few people will deny that love, in one form or another, makes up the beauty of life to woman. It enters into all she does. Any work outside her immediate circle is undertaken most often from a pure desire to help some one else to know something of the mysterious happiness of love. Unlike men, women chiefly look for per sonal intercourse with those for whom they are working. If their interest lies among the poor, they are desirous of a lasting kind has been done by women without love being brought to bear on the individual case.

Blas Canasales, the fellow who got met with an accident Wednesday which may result very seriously. He is employed in running machinery in this establishment, and while engaged about an emery-wheel a small piece of steel was thrown off, striking him in the eye. Dr. Hartley skillfully removed the dangerous particle, but it is not yet known to what extent the eye is injured.

Blas Canasales, the fellow who got away with Covarrubias's horses and carriage some three weeks ago, went now being packed, and the number will reach 200 in a few days. One carriage some three weeks ago, went through the mill of the gods exceedingly swift. He was arrested Monday, tried and sentenced within two hours yesterday, and goes to State Prison forthwith by the recent rains.

Hellman, Hasa & Co., plaintiffs, vs. J. M. Mc-Kenzle, defendant.

Hellman, Hass & Co., plaintins, vs. J. M. McKenzle, defendant.

The People of the State of California send greeting to J. M. McKenzie:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiffs in the Justice's Court of Los Angeles township, county of Los Angeles, State of California, and to answer before the Justice, at his office in the said township, the complaintifled therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this Summons—if served within the Township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said county, within ten days; or within twenty days if served elsewhere. and see them before giving where.

The said action is brought to recover of you, the defendant, the sum of thirty-two 25-100 dollars, alleged to be due from you, the defendant, to the plaintiff, for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered at his special instance and request, as will more fully appear by complaint on file in this office, a copy of which is hereunto attached. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said plaintiffs will take judgment against you for the sum of 32 26-100 dollars, together with costs of this action.

Make legal service and due return hereof. Given under my hand, this 21st day of August, 1882.
